- 1. In connection with the topics treated by the Wissenschaftlich - Technisches Bureau fuer Geraetebau (Scientific-Technical Bureau for Apparatus Construction) (WTBG) in 1955, the Funkwerk Leipzig received two work orders which concerned the 10-cm radar developed there. Work order No 612 concerned the development of a stabilized platform for ship radars and the second order concerned the construction of a spectrometer for analyses of impulses of 10-cm radars. The cost for the spectrometer was to amount to only about 40000 Eastmarks because it was practically a reproduction of work order 66 M. A klystron, which had been developed in the LF plant in Oberschoeneweide, served as oscillator for the spectrometer.
- 2. The registering water-gauge (automatischer Pegelschreiber) developed under work order 53 - 5 was demonstrated before Soviet customers in January or early February 1955 and, except for one defect, was accepted.

1. [ ] Comment: A photographic copy of work order 53 - 5 is available from the CIA Library ( 2 pages in German ).
